

Ebook Publishing Made Easier by BestBookPublish.com, With New Publicity & Book Promotion Services

The spotlight on new authors has gotten brighter as a well-known e-book publisher has added publicity services to its arsenal. Now, writers and ebook self-publishers can tap the most powerful combination of success tools possible to meet both distribution and marketing goals.

(PRWEB) June 30, 2008 -- Self-publishing literary authors - especially new writers -- have always received extra support from Best Book Publish (<http://bestbookpublish.com>), including help navigating the complex ISBN number process; benefiting from low-cost print-on-demand (POD) services; and prominent promotion in its online bookstore. Now writers who sign with BestBookPublish.com get a special marketing boost as well.

The company has entered a joint venture partnership with CopyClique.com, which will provide book promotion and SEO publicity services to help self-publishing authors drive book sales. A leading online publicity service, CopyClique.com (<http://CopyClique.com>) makes available a wealth of PR and marketing talent. The services are affordable and include online and offline publicity, publishing industry marketing as well as book tour coordination.

The addition of Copy Clique's SEO publicity and other services means Best Book Publish has become a complete, one-stop shop for any author. No e-book publisher makes it easier for new authors to gain online exposure. In a field made crowded by the popularity of self-publishing, a top-flight book marketing campaign becomes exponentially more crucial.

No book publisher offers more services and tools to new authors. As book publishers, Best Book Publish provides new authors (or emerging authors with new books) a year of distribution to 25,000 online booksellers including Amazon. Emerging authors represented by the company write in genres as diverse as romance, sci-fi, mystery, humor, children's books, fantasy, history, suspense and horror.

Anna Pinack Carrabs is one current author currently finding success through Best Book Publish. Her thoughtful memoir "You Don't Remember, I Can't Forget" about struggling with Langerhans Cell Histiocytosis and the related stigma through childhood has found an audience through self publishing on the site and other online bookstores.

One of the Internet's top online book stores, Best Book Publish also offers a strong selection of works by celebrity authors. Some current celebrity books that are hot sellers include "Heart Full of Soul" by American Idol Taylor Hicks; "Golf Monster" by rock legend Alice Cooper; Barbara Walters' "Audition"; and Eric Clapton's autobiography "Clapton."
