If you want to earn more, then you need to actually touch and help more people, right? (Apart from raising your hourly rate, that is.) But how do you help more people without working longer hours? And how do you attract enough people who value your help so much that they're willing to pay for it?

Take a Help First, Earn Later approach in the beginning, to attract more people who'll want to pay for your services. You can widen your influence and create more demand for your services by using various online strategies to efficiently distribute educational content.

To effectively shift your focus from one-to-one to this strategic one-to-many approach, you'll learn insider secrets to:

- ✓ Establish your online reputation as an expert authority, a trusted advisor with a following gained through using Social Media and your own opt-in list.
- ✓ Leverage all of your resources (time, money and effort) through strategies such as outsourcing, automation, replication, network efficiencies, affiliate programs and viral or incentivized word-of-mouth tactics.
- ✓ Productize your expertise to create products that can be sold again and again on autopilot, generating recurring 'while you sleep' income streams.
- ✓ Repackage and repurpose your existing content to create multiple products from the same information.

How do you implement this formula? What are the specific strategies and detailed steps you need? Well for that, you'll have to step inside the member's area and find out! All will be revealed. I hope you'll join us.

How Long Must I Continue Being a Member?

As long as you like. Or, you can cancel your monthly membership whenever you want. My experience is that a business is always growing and can always be improved. So I think you'll find this to be a valuable resource for a long time to come. But there is no contract and you're free to leave at any time.

Please don't do this if you simply want to download everything and unsubscribe an hour later. Sure, you can join, fill your hard drive with the thousands of dollars worth of resources I'm providing and then cancel tomorrow if you like.

But I hope you don't do that: You'd be missing out on the real value that I can share with you. But if you were to do this, all that would happen is that I'd then make your space available to someone else who wants to stay connected and keep growing their business. All cool!

But I believe that once you enter this exclusive membership site, you'll love it and want to stay well beyond the 7-day trial. Here's why:

1. Beginning with their first look around, most people discover precisely the rare-to-find marketing insights and steps they've been missing.
2. By the time you've implemented some of the first strategies that have blown you away in here, I'll have already updated the site with several hot and emerging marketing techniques to build your practice.

This cycle will occur over and over, across many months of membership. I keep members up-to-speed on the very latest in Internet coaching and thoroughly explain how those successful business models are structured.
